Thoroughness in School work.

Of course you want to be thorough.
You want your pupils, your children to be thorough. This should be the aim of every one who attempts to teach. But there are two kinds of thoroughness. One is of the text, the other is of the mind. The first, almost any figurehead, who is all flesh, can secure. It requires very little soul effort, but much bodily effort. It is the kind which comes from pouring both the bodies and the minds of the children. You measure out your lessons as regularly as the physician does his doses. In preparing a lesson the pupil is never to be measured bodily, with regard to that lesson, by a rattle or a rule. In the eyes of the friends of this species of thoroughness, the more rattle a teacher uses the better he will measure.

There is a thoroughness which is attached to this method of thoroughness, which makes it attractive to many teachers. The exact work is known by both pupil and teacher. The exact form of recitation is understood. During recitation the pupil need only use his mouth and his memory; the teacher needs only his ears and eyes. If the teacher is smart he can read a paper while the lesson is being recited. We have seen much of this kind of teaching. God forgive us if we sinned in calling such teaching a humbug and such teachers block heads.

How different is that other thoroughness which is of the mind and not of the text of the spirit. It is not of the letter; the kind which comes from enthusiastic intelligence, which fires the soul and quickens the body. This is the steady glow of an inspired heart which communicates its warmth like fire. It is a quality of every faculty of both teacher and pupil. It requires of the teacher careful forethought and special preparation for every recitation.
This every pupil at every class must be personally known and felt. It consider the whole soul of each one, not the memory alone. It requires nerves quick, sensitive, nerves which must suffer many a jar and twist. It is above order—beyond discipline. It is forgetful of self—mindful only of the moment. It requires a great deal of self-sacrifice. It requires a great deal of love. It requires a great deal of patience and love in examinations. It creates thoughtful and ambitious men and women. It is a gift from on high, and its greatest reward is eternity. W.
H. Campbell, Charleston, Mo., in Eclectic Teacher.

"A man has been convicted at Columbia, Ohio, of the crime of being a tramp, and will be sent to the penitentiary for one or two years. As a general thing we see nothing in the laws of Ohio superior to our own laws, but in this particular instance I would be well enough for Kentucky to emulate the Buckeye. Most of the crimes committed in Kentucky in the line of murder, rape, robbery, and arson are at the hands of tramps, and most of them come from across the river. Ask any tramp you meet to tell you where he was born, or where he lives, and it's ten to one he will say in Ohio—Frankfort Yonnan.

Here, on the great thoroughfare of the great Mississippi, where tramps do largely congregate, we have a large experience on this subject, and are prepared to confirm the Yonnan's statement. Ninety per cent. of those who commit crimes and are confined in our county jail, in response to the question, "Where is your home, or where were you born?" will answer some other State than Kentucky.

Cotton Baling Reviving.
During the war, and the years immediate following, the farmers of this section very generally raised cotton, but have since very generally abandoned it. But it has again received a vigorous impulse, and next year the area to be devoted to cotton in Fulton, Hickman, Ohio, Lake and Dyer counties, will be nearly double the present year. Although it does not bring so large return on paper as some other crops, it is found to yield more cash at the end of the year, and many farmers have found a way of raising a few bales of cotton, without diminishing their other productions. The labor of the women and children can be utilized in the cotton patch. Where a farmer has a household of children a small patch of cotton is just that much gain, and comparatively no loss to his main crop.

A Change to the Scene.
(Fulton Register.)
The moment Justice Welch put his head in the court room door the other morning, an old, wiry faced fellow hustled himself forward:
"See here, Judge, slap out a warrant quicker's seat."
"What for?"
"To stop my old woman from stealing."
"What's she been stealing?"
"Everything I bring into the house,
"A wife can't steal from her husband."
"Can't?"
"No. She can do anything she likes with all you've got."
"Why, damit, that's reg'lar built red communion!"
"Can't be helped. Everything you have is the common property of husband and wife."
"And me buy it with my own money."
"Yes; it makes no difference who buys it."
"Well, by thunder! that ticks me.
Here I go prancing around, peddling, and everything I bring home she carries off and sells. If that's law, by Judith, the old woman can wear the breeches, and I'll go to the wash!"

UNION CITY, TENN., Dec. 9, 1879.
To the Editor of the Hickman Courier: I see in the Hickman Courier of Dec. 5th, 1879, an article headed "Charges against Obion county officials." Governor of Missouri to Demand Reparation, &c., and purporting to be from the pen of one Thos. H. McMallen, styling himself prosecuting attorney of Jefferson county, Missouri, in which I, as one of the officials alluded to, have been charged in public print with official acts beneath the dignity of an Obion county officer.

For the benefit of those who have not been so fortunate as to see the Courier containing the aforesaid charges, I will state that, at the November term 1878, of our law Court at Union City, two prosecutions were brought by the grand jury against one Henry Arkwright, for the offense of carrying arms, for such caprices and number of aliases were issued, and on Thursday evening, the 20th of November last, and while court was in session at this place, I received information that Henry Arkwright was unknown to my informant, and that they were going to Missouri with him.
I at once issued caprices and gave them to Deputy Sheriff Bennett, that the matter might be investigated, at the same time remarking to the officer that if the parties had a requisition for his arrest, that he would have no right to interfere with them; but if they were holding him without authority, it would be his duty to take charge of the prisoner by authority of his caprice and have the matter investigated. I judged, so please excuse my friend Bennett, for discharging his sworn duty by quietly and peacefully taking charge of a person charged with an offense by legal process from parties who were detaining him without the shadow of authority.

Mr. McMallem, in answer to your charges against the Obion County officials, there are some things that I shall denounce as false, and I will say to you the most little charge "blackmailing," while there are some other charges that I shall admit to be true. In the first instance, I emphatically deny that the prisoner was taken from me illegally or by force, but that he was taken from me by a requisition and in keeping with his official duties.
Further, I deny the assertion that I accepted your proposition, that if the prisoner would pay guilty in one year, you would pay him a fine of one dollar and the cost in both cases, that you might then take him and go, he being unwilling to go with you. But to the contrary, will say that when our officer took charge of the prisoner you were offered a fine of one dollar and in his case if we would allow you to go with him by so doing, which under other circumstances would have been an insult. But by making such a charge you are in your own mind, I repeat in mind, I allowed your very generous offer to pass unnoticed, by declining to accept, remarking that I was only Clerk of the Court; that I was neither Judge nor jury, and had no right to accept or refuse the money with you in any way, nor that I would not, even if you would give me one hundred dollars. And I further deny that you were surrounded by a crowd, howled by W. B. Bennett, deputy sheriff, in the manner described by you, and that I came rushing up with my two caprices upon which the prisoner was arrested, and again assert, as heretofore that the arrest was made by Mr. Bennett, politely and quietly, upon the caprices that I had given him before I had seen you or the prisoner.

As to the fine and cost that you have paid into this Court for Mr. Ar-wright, (which I think is the real cause of so much scandal) allow me to say that the whole arrangement was made by your agent at your own suggestion, without even an intimation from any officer of this court, that you should pay one cent before that you could take the prisoner to Missouri anywhere else you wish to go with him after convincing our people that he was really a thief. And if you had not been quite so fast and caused the prisoner to have plead guilty to a charge that I think in all probability he could have proved himself clear of by having a fair trial, I think it quite likely that you could have had fifty dollars and thirty cents more to add to your reward for capturing the notorious horse thief, Henry C. Wilkerson, alias Henry Arkwright.

Now, as to the charges that I have made to you to admit. In the first place, I very freely admit that I got the fifty dollars and thirty cents as the fine and cost in the two cases against Henry Arkwright for carrying arms, for which you have my official receipt.
(Please write on the margin. Small letters thankfully received.) Further, you say that our officers made the arrest after the man was captured, well searched, well guarded, and brought into our court room handcuffed, that, too, I am willing to admit (at least, that he was well searched.) Now, you say that your Governor is going to demand reparation from our Governor by requesting the return of the money illegally extorted, and the prosecution of the parties concerned.
O, my! Why, sir, that would include my well beloved Judge Aden, who holds a much higher position than that of a mere county officer. Why, sir, he holds a position almost equal in rank to that of a Missouri prosecuting attorney, and he is the official who declared that the aforesaid fine and cost might be paid or secured as agreed upon between you and the Attorney General, R. A. Pierce, another official having jurisdiction over six or eight counties, who prosecutes the pleas of the State, somewhat in the attitude of a Missouri prosecuting attorney, I imagine, except that he is not much on the catch, but gives a follow the d—l when somebody else does the catching and brings him into court. He, too, may have his foot in the batter, and may be gobbled up with us little county officials.
Now, sir, I have no disposition to

WASHINGTON LETTER

The Report of the Bureau of Statistics—Important Railroad Legislation.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 10, 1879.
The chief of the Bureau of Statistics has just completed a report on the internal commerce of the United States, which is now in the hands of the printers. The report embodies the results of an extensive investigation of commercial and transportation affairs in various States, and shows how rapidly the habits of the people are becoming accustomed to the necessities of railroad transportation. The report is no review, it is simply a compilation of facts and changes which almost every citizen seen on a regular basis in his neighborhood. Many changes and developments set forth in the report have resulted from the establishment of facilities for the direct shipment of merchandise over connecting roads and the growth of manufacturing industries throughout the Middle, Western and North Western States, have added to produce important changes in the course of our internal commerce.
It is shown that the value of the exports of the trans-Mississippi States now cross the Mississippi river on railroads between St. Louis and St. Paul, and are transported East to New York in this country, and by the St. Louis and New York route.
The eastward shipment from St.
Louis by rail now exceeds the southern shipments by the Mississippi river.
St. Louis and St. Louis were once chiefly identified in trade and transportation, but they are now shipping goods to the coast of the Atlantic States by railroads on the Ohio and St. Louis river.

The power of Congress to regulate inter-State commerce is not questioned, and the right of Congress to regulate inter-State commerce is not questioned.
The Government is now considering the proposed bill to regulate inter-State commerce, and the bill is now before the House of the 46th Congress, but has been delayed by the Senate. The bill is now before the Senate, and is now before the Senate.
The bill is now before the Senate, and is now before the Senate.

Profr. Tice's Meteoric Forecasts

Shown to Have been Correct.

[To the Editor of the Courier-Journal.] In forecasting the weather and other atmospheric phenomena for 1879, in the National Weather Almanac for this year, Prof. Tice named the night of the 13th inst. as the period for a meteoric shower, and a few weeks ago he wrote an article that went the round of the newspaper press to the effect that the prediction was the same. The prediction was based upon scientific causes and historical precedent—it being a historical fact, traced to a period nearly 2,000 years back, that at given and regular periods, which the 13th of November was one of the most numerous showers have occurred. He did not assert, however, that any such shower would be general, or that it would be seen over any great part of the country. The fact that no such shower had ever been seen, except locally, was sufficient to excite any such expectation—the favored localities being impossible to name.

It is a fact that seems not to be known that the meteoric showers have occurred in the last 1,000 years, and have been seen over a greater width—more than twenty degrees of longitude.

This communication is sent especially, however, to correct the idea that the meteoric shower was to be seen everywhere, and to call attention to the fact that the prediction was based upon scientific causes and historical precedent.

The following communication sent to Prof. Tice, unsolicited, by reliable and well known business men of St.
Louis, gives testimony of a shower in that city never recorded in history or chronicle. We give it in full:
"St. Louis, Nov. 22, 1879. Prof.
J. H. Tice, Esq., Dear Sir: Having received in various newspapers newspapers, and in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, a notice of a meteoric shower to be seen on the 13th inst., and as the comet was a shower of fireballs, and CORN! CORN!

WHEN THE NEW CORN IS READY to market our agent, Mr. James K. Rogers, will be the first to offer it at the highest market price for all the sound, clean corn delivered to him.

The Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway and others are now building a new and speedy passenger car, and will offer facilities to shippers. We will furnish sacks to parties desiring to sell or store grain in sacks. Sacks of grain in bulk are superior to any other market.

All shipments are covered by our policy of insurance.

Medical Notice!

CANCERS, ULCERS, TYPHOID AND Sore Eyes, permanently cured without the use of a knife, or much pain. All sores, ulcers and dropsy, cured in one week, without the loss of one drop of blood.

DR. J. B. STAMPER,
Proprietor to treat all kinds of Diseases.

CHRONIC DISEASES A SPECIALTY.
Cancers, Ulcers, Typhoid, Rheumatism, Lung, Liver and Kidney Diseases, Erysipelas, Sore Eyes, Scrofula, Sprains, Eruptions, Skin, White Swelling, Chills, Fever, Scurvy, Gravel, Intestines, Piles, Female Weakness and General Debility, Affections of the Spine, Discharge, Pains, Syphilis and private diseases cured. All consultations of a private or public nature strictly confidential, and free of charge.

The doctor can be found at Wm. Walker's, on Troy road, 4 miles from Hickman. If you wish to consult the doctor, call at once.

LOST!

IT IS AN ESTABLISHED FACT THAT the Quinine and Cinchona will stop Chills, and for this purpose there is no better remedy. But it is also an established fact that they do not remove the cause that produces the Chills. For if they did, the Chills would not return on the 11th, 13th or 20th day. Then it is not money lost to attempt to temporarily cure the Chills with Quinine or Cinchona, when they do not remove the cause from the system that produces them. For until the cause is removed, the Chills will return.

FERRINE

Is warranted to remove every cause from the system that produces the Chills, and if it fails to do this you will sustain no loss, for every druggist is authorized to guarantee permanent cure in every case. No matter how long standing, and without dangerous surgical operations, binges, instruments, rings, or needles pointing out Amodeo's Ferrine. It is a certain and effective, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

THE Lookout Mountain Route

Is the best equipped, safest and most pleasant line, it being the

between the Northwest and Southeast. It is the shortest and most direct route to the celebrated Springs and Summer resorts of Virginia and East Tennessee. Connections are made with trains for all night trains. Through sleepers from Memphis to Nashville without change. Double daily connections on all through trains. Business men and pleasure seekers, bear in mind that the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railroad offers better accommodations, better time and connections than any other route between the Northwest and Southeast.

THIEVES FIXING FOR HICKMAN.—Last week the farm house of Mr. Brown, who lives on the river, six or eight miles below town, was robbed of a larger part of his household goods. Mr. Brown and family were not at home when the thieves landed, and in broad daylight gutted the premises and loaded their stolen goods. Among other things, they stole a feather bed, quilts, gun, saddles, and a cooking stove. The thieves then journeyed on down the river, and at night camped on the bank some 15 miles below about daylight a squad of citizens, who were in search of the depredators, ran upon them, and found the goods as described in their possession. They gave their names as John Albany and George Jackson, and the witnesses testify that they acknowledged their guilt when the stolen goods were found in their possession. They were brought to Hickman and an examining trial held before the City Court, which court, after hearing the evidence, held them for trial before the February term of the Circuit Court, and in default of $500 bail, were committed to the county jail.

J. H. PLAUT & BRO.

In this issue, a correspondent suggests a municipal ticket, headed by H. A. Tyler for Mayor. It is a good ticket. We also have heard the name of R. A. A. Paris spoken of for the Mayoralty. Bitter would make a good officer. We don't care what individuals compose the new board, whether the one presently in office is better or not, we do think the citizens should manifest concern enough to elect a prudent and sensible set of officers. The finances of the town are now in an intelligent and healthy shape, in fact the least of it, and it is the interest of all for it to be kept so. The present board have, in our judgment, made excellent officers, but some of them are getting well along with the very best management, and the election of an imprudent board next year would make things considerably worse. We want a council in favor of strict financial and strict sanitation.

BETTER PRICES HERE THAN AT OTHER PLACES.—Some of our farmers from time to time, are disposed to grumble about the prices they get for their produce at Hickman. We reckon this is only human nature, but they can draw some consolation by comparing with prices farmers receive at other neighboring points. The Columbus Times, speaking of the present corn market, says:—

"We learn that the corn crop in the lower bottom is a very large one, the best ever raised there, in fact, all the farmers in that section are selling their corn in Hickman at 35c per bushel. A little enterprise in Columbus would pay for shipping facilities are unexcelled, and if some of our business men with capital would take hold and offer prices equal to those offered at Hickman and other places, not only would they individual trade be benefited but the whole town would experience the effect. Hickman is said to be more business in a day than Columbus does in a week, and it is doubtless true, for his business men are proportionately better off than the farmers who are in the same predicament. What is possible for Hickman is possible for Columbus. Enterprise is a sine qua non of business success."

As a matter of truth the price paid at Hickman, all these seasons, has been 38 cents, and 35 anywhere on the bank, which gives the farmers near Hickman 8 cents better prices than those near Columbus. It is also a conceded fact that Hickman has paid from 1 to 3 cents more for cotton than any neighboring market. Last season, we all know, that our buyers paid from 5 to 15 cents more for wheat than was paid anywhere else. Under this state of facts, it does look like our farmers should congratulate themselves, and be proportionately better off than the farmers who from location are compelled to sell to these other markets. For this better market we are indebted to the liberality of buyers, and chiefly to lower freight rates. Having here the Mississippi river and railroad in competition for freights, our people are always enabled to ship their produce at lower figures than can be done from interior points where they are solely dependent upon a railroad. Our farmers who live on a railroad, too far from the river to haul their grain here, see and know that prices here are better than they get, but they can't help themselves. On the whole average the farmers near Hickman make their crops net them more per bushel or per pound than any farmers for fifty miles around. These are facts worth considering, and when we think of the hard labor and poor returns, let's draw a little consolation from the fact that we get a little more than our neighbors.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

Hickman R. A. Dec 15, 1879. Council met. Present—Mayor, City Councilmen Paris, Brown, Campbell, and London.

The minutes of the last meeting were read, approved and signed.
